Scalp reduction Process

Dr. Bansal provides an effective treatment for the lack of scalp surgery baldness, because this option is not for everyone. Because it depends on the hair loss of the body, it usually starts with stimulating drugs for hair growth. Examples of these include minoxidil (Rogaine) or finasteride. There procedure is used to reduce the size of the bald spots, and can also be employed as part of a hair surgery. A scalp reduction procedure can be much more painful than a hair transplant.

Baldness Process

Dr Bansal is used to reduce the size of the bald spots, and can also be employed as part of a hair surgery. This process can be of more pain than for a skull and a hair transplant. Every hair on your head is a growth cycle. Male pattern baldness is believed to be associated with male sex hormones called Androgen. Male pattern baldness inherited is usually a side effect. However, many times baldness is a more serious cause, such as some cancers, medicines, thyroid conditions, and anabolic steroids.
